1. HISTORY

According to historical accounts, San Pablo was formerly known as the village of Sampaloc-an upland realm surrounded by mountain ranges and dormant volcanic peaks. It was believed that millions of years ago after extensive volcanism, mountain making movements thrust lower lying areas to uplands and low rolling plains where Caesal piniaceus tamarind or Sampalok trees grew in wild abundance. This upland realm became the town, San Pablo de los Montes.

1.1 The Pre-Hispanic Village of Sampaloc

Sampalok was a large and prospering village which had its own system of government and culture. Barangays already existed and each was headed by a chieftain who was also known as Gatpuno. Foremost among them were Gat Paguil, Gat Sungayan, Gat Salakab, and Gat Pulintan. Cultural development was manifested in marriage patterns, religion, and social groups. Even crude written symbols of communications were used to record simple trades and forms of literature although oral handing of customs, beliefs, songs and practices was preferred. The native had a glimpse of the outside world through Chinese traders who were the first group to be in contact with as evidenced by ceramic pieces that were unearthed and carbon-dated.

1.2 The Coming of the Spaniards

In search of gold, the first Spanish troops under Captain Juan de Salcedo reached the upland realm of Sampalok in 1571 and immediately announced governance in the name of the King of Spain. Administration of its affairs was turned over to the Augustinian Priest Father Mateo Mendoza in July 8, 1586 who then succeeded in converting most of the natives to Christianity. Fiesta was introduced as part of religious rituals. Consequently, some barangay villages were renamed after saints as a reason for the festivity. Native chieftains were renamed "cabeza de barangay". It was one of the four (4) barrios of Bae, Laguna and was separated as a municipality in 1647 and was renamed "San Pablo de los Montes" in honor of St. Paul the First Hermit. It was placed under the cabecera of Pagsanjan, with Bartolome Maghayain as first gobernadorcillo in 1648. Father Juan de Nicolas launched a long-range coconut tree planting, that the economic prosperity of San Pablo de Montes would depend largely on coconut that the citizens would be affluent enough to pay their taxes promptly and contribute more to church fund in 1696. In 1756, Governor Arandia placed San Pablo under the jurisdiction of Batangas and was returned under the jurisdiction of Laguna in 1883.

Centuries of Spanish colonization of the Philippine Islands had left its indelible imprint on the social, economic, and political life of the country. In San Pablo de los Montes, the gridiron plan for its central village or cabecera had been replicated from communities that were founded under the Spanish empire which conspicuously featured a central plaza. From 1648 to 1696, 249 gobernadorcillos and 94 parish priests had been installed in San Pablo de los Montes.

Over the years there was genial and friendly relationship between the natives and the religious who wielded the civil authority. Until the flames of revolution against Spain that was ignited by the execution of Dr. Jose P. Rizal, who was well known to the local citizenry, had crept into San Pablo de los Montes and produced revolutionists and local heroes.

In the face of impending defeat, the Spanish troops left the town and the Philippine Flag was raised in the town plaza on June 6, 1898. The revolutionist led by General Juan Cailles immediately appointed prominent citizens as councilmen and town officials to effect local administration.

1.3 American Occupation

The subsequent defeat of the Spanish colonizers set the stage for another war the Filipino - American war. This led to the inevitable American occupation and establishment of the Philippine Commonwealth. Under the American military government in 1899, a municipal government was established with Inocente Martinez as Municipal President. The first American cavalry arrived in San Pablo on January 14, 1900 after taking Santa Cruz and Calamba earlier and routed the local freedom fighters. America's pacification drive and grant of amnesty to freedom-fighters did much to quell animosity and distrust among the local citizenry, on January 24, 1901, U.S military authorities appointed Don Pedro de Gorostiza as municipal president of San Pablo.

The Civil Government of the Philippines was inaugurated on July 1, 1902. It was ushered in locally by the elite of San Pablo which was composed of the influential, wealthy, and closely related families who easily dominated the fledgling electoral process.

Don Marcos Paulino was the first elective municipal president of San Pablo (1902-1904). The other municipal presidents who succeeded him were as follows:

- 1905 – 1907– Don Melecio Fule
- 1908 – 1910– Don Cornelio Alcantara
- 1911 – 1913– Don Simeon Gesmundo
- 1914 – 1916– Don Marcial Alimario

- 1931 – 1934– Don Gaudencio Aquino
- 1935 – 1938– Don Inocencio Barleta
- 1938 – 1940– Don Cristeto Brion

On May 7, 1940, San Pablo became a chartered city by virtue of Republic Act No. 520 through the effort of Assemblyman Tomas Dizon and as approved by President Manuel Luis Quezon. It was inaugurated on March 30, 1940 with Dr. Potenciano Malvar as first appointive City Mayor.

1.4 Japanese Occupation

In the morning of December 25, 1941, Japanese fighter planes dropped bombs in the City and strafed people and edifices. They left behind a harrowing scene of ruins and death. On December 30, 1941, General Susuma Marioka arrived and took over San Pablo in the name of the invading Japanese Imperial Forces.

World War II brought extensive damage to the City in terms of lives lost and properties destroyed. It brought out the worst and the best in men – from the dreaded notoriety of the local kempetai and makapili collaborators to the admirable heroism of the local guerillas and freedom fighters, one of which was Cipriano B. Colago, who became the first elected City Mayor of San Pablo. Japanese occupation ended when the Americans troops marched into the City on April 3, 1945.

Don Marcos Paulino was the first elective municipal president of San Pablo (1902-1904). The other municipal presidents who succeeded him were as follows:

Prewar Mayor
Potenciano Malvar	January 1941
Japanese Occupation
Manuel Quisumbing	1941-1942
Postwar Mayors
Alfonso Farcon	1945-1946

Vicente Amante	1992-2001
Florante Aquino	2001-2004
Vicente Amante	2004-2013
Loreto S. Amante	2013-present

On September 21, 1972, President Ferdinand E. Marcos issued Proclamation No. 1081 which placed the entire Philippine archipelago under Martial Law. Among others, it paved the way for the issuance of Presidential Decree No. 86 dated December 31, 1972; Presidential Decree No. 86-A dated January 5, 1973; and Presidential Decree No. 86-B dated January 7, 1973. All these decrees were contributory to the creation of Citizen Assemblies or Barangays. Under these decrees 80 barangays were created in the City.

On February 25, 1986, the so-called EDSA Revolution or People Power Revolution broke out. It was followed by the withdrawal of support by Defense Minister Enrile and Philippine Constabulary Chief Fidel V. Ramos to the martial law government. President Marcos fled the country and went to Hawaii where he died on September 28, 1989.

A Revolutionary Government was established by President Corazon C. Aquino who was catapulted to power by the EDSA revolution. Local government executives all over the country were either booted out of office or retained. In San Pablo City, Mayor Cesar P. Dizon was replaced by long-time political rival, former City Mayor Zacarias A. Ticzon as OIC Mayor. Upon filing of his certificate of candidacy, Ticzon was replaced by OIC Jose de Roma who was later on replaced by OIC Ruben Adarlo of the MILG. Upon ratification of the Philippine Constitution of 1986, normalcy in governance returned and so did the electoral process.

In 1992, Vicente B. Amante was elected City Mayor of San Pablo and served for three consecutive terms until 2001. He was succeeded by Florante Aquino who served as City Mayor for only one term. Mayor Vicente B. Amante won on the following 2004 election and again completed three consecutive terms thereby making him the only local political leader who has performed such feat. In 2013, he was succeeded by his son, Loreto S. Amante, as City Mayor and currently the Mayor for the term 2016-2019.

2. GEO-PHYSICAL ENVIRONMENT

2.1 Geographical Location

The City of San Pablo strategically lies at the southern tip of the province of Laguna with geographic coordinates of 14° 4' north latitude and 121° 19' east longitude. It is bounded by Calauan Laguna in the northwest, Nagcarlan in the Northeast, Alaminos, Laguna in the west, Rizal, Laguna in the east, Lipa City, Batangas in the southwestern tip, and the municipalities of Tiaong and Dolores, Quezon in the south (Map 1).

2.1.1 Land Area

Based on the DENR's certification, San Pablo City has a total land area of 19,756 hectares that is being appointed to 80 barangays. Main urban area is comprised of 3,517.47 hectares or 17.08% of the City's total land area with 44 barangays (Table 1). Rural areas which are composed of 36 barangays, cover 16,238.54 hectares or 82.20% of the totality of the City (Table 2).

Map 1. Location Map of San Pablo City

Although there are no boundary disputes between adjacent municipalities, there are boundary disagreements exist within the City. A total land area of 167.26 hectares are affected (Table 3). In addition, there are disputes between Barangays Santisimo Rosario and San Isidro; and San Gabriel and San Miguel. Both cases have been elevated in court for legal opinion.

2.1.2 Topography

The City of San Pablo has a topography of plain to gently sloping with small portion of rolling to very steep hills on the northern, eastern, and southern edges and is bounded by the mountain ranges of Kalisungan and Calauan Hills in the north, Mt. Mabilog in the northeast, Mounts San Cristobal and Banahaw in the east, and Susong Dalaga, Napayong, and Masalukot Hills in the south to southwest.

2.1.3 Elevation

Situated on a plateau, the City has an elevation of 485 feet above sea level with a terrain of generally sloping from east to west. The ground surface elevation within the City ranges from approximately 50 meters to over 600 meters as seen in the elevation map (Map 2).

2.1.4 Slope

Map 3 shows the slope map of the City of San Pablo. More than half of the City (53.99%), 10,666.61 hectares, is described as gently sloping to undulating. This is evident in rural areas as well as in the central part of the City. Further, 28.63% or 5,656.19 hectares of San Pablo has an undulating to rolling terrain (8-18% slope). Also, 1.69% or 334.40 hectares of the City is level or plain which is apparent in parts of San Pedro and Del Remedio.

2.2 Geology

Geology is the study is a science concerned with the study of rocks and minerals. Identifying the bedrock is an important part of geology. Determining its depth and type helps geologists describe the natural history of a region. It also helps geologists identify rock formation to create geologic maps which further helps in identifying sites of orogenic events.

2.2.1 Bedrock Formation

Bedrock is the hard, solid rock beneath surface materials such as soil and gravel; as well as sand and other sediments on the ocean floor. There are no bedrock formations in San Pablo City because of the absence of a coastline.

2.2.2 Soils

There are seven soil types in San Pablo City: Calumpang Clay, Mountain Soil, Macolod Clay Loam (Steep Phase), Ibaan Loam, Lipa Loam, and Lipa Loam (Deep Phase). Map 4 shows different soil types and their distribution in the City.

Majority of the City's land area or 65.41% is categorized as Lipa Loam which is characterized by deep level, well drainage, acidic, and friable soil. Permeability as well as the supply of nutrients such as phosphorus, potassium, and organic matter are moderately high in this soil type.

Mountain soil is the second most common soil type in in the City. It covers 21.20% of the total land area or 4,188.28 hectares. Mountain soil are found in most parts of Barangays San Diego, Sta. Isabel, San Jose, Sta. Elena, San Cristobal, Sto Niño, Santiago 2, Bautista, Atisan, and nearby hilly mountainous region.

Macolod Clay Loam (Steep Phase) encompasses 5.35% or 1,056.95 hectares of the City. This soil type can also be found in different areas of Laguna including Mt. Kalisungan in Calauan and Mt. Makiling in Los Baños. Lanzones, coconuts and sweet potatoes are some of the most common crops that are cultivated in this soil type. Barangays Sta. Catalina, San Lorenzo, San Mateo, and soil around Mohicap Lake are composed of Macolod Clay Loam (Steep Phase).

Macolod Clay Loam comprises 472.17 hectares or 2.39% of the total land area of the City. It can be found at the upper portions of Mt. Makiling, characterized by commercial and non-commercial forest. This soil type trails in parts of Barangays San Mateo, San Marcos, San Crispin, Sta. Filomena and San Juan.

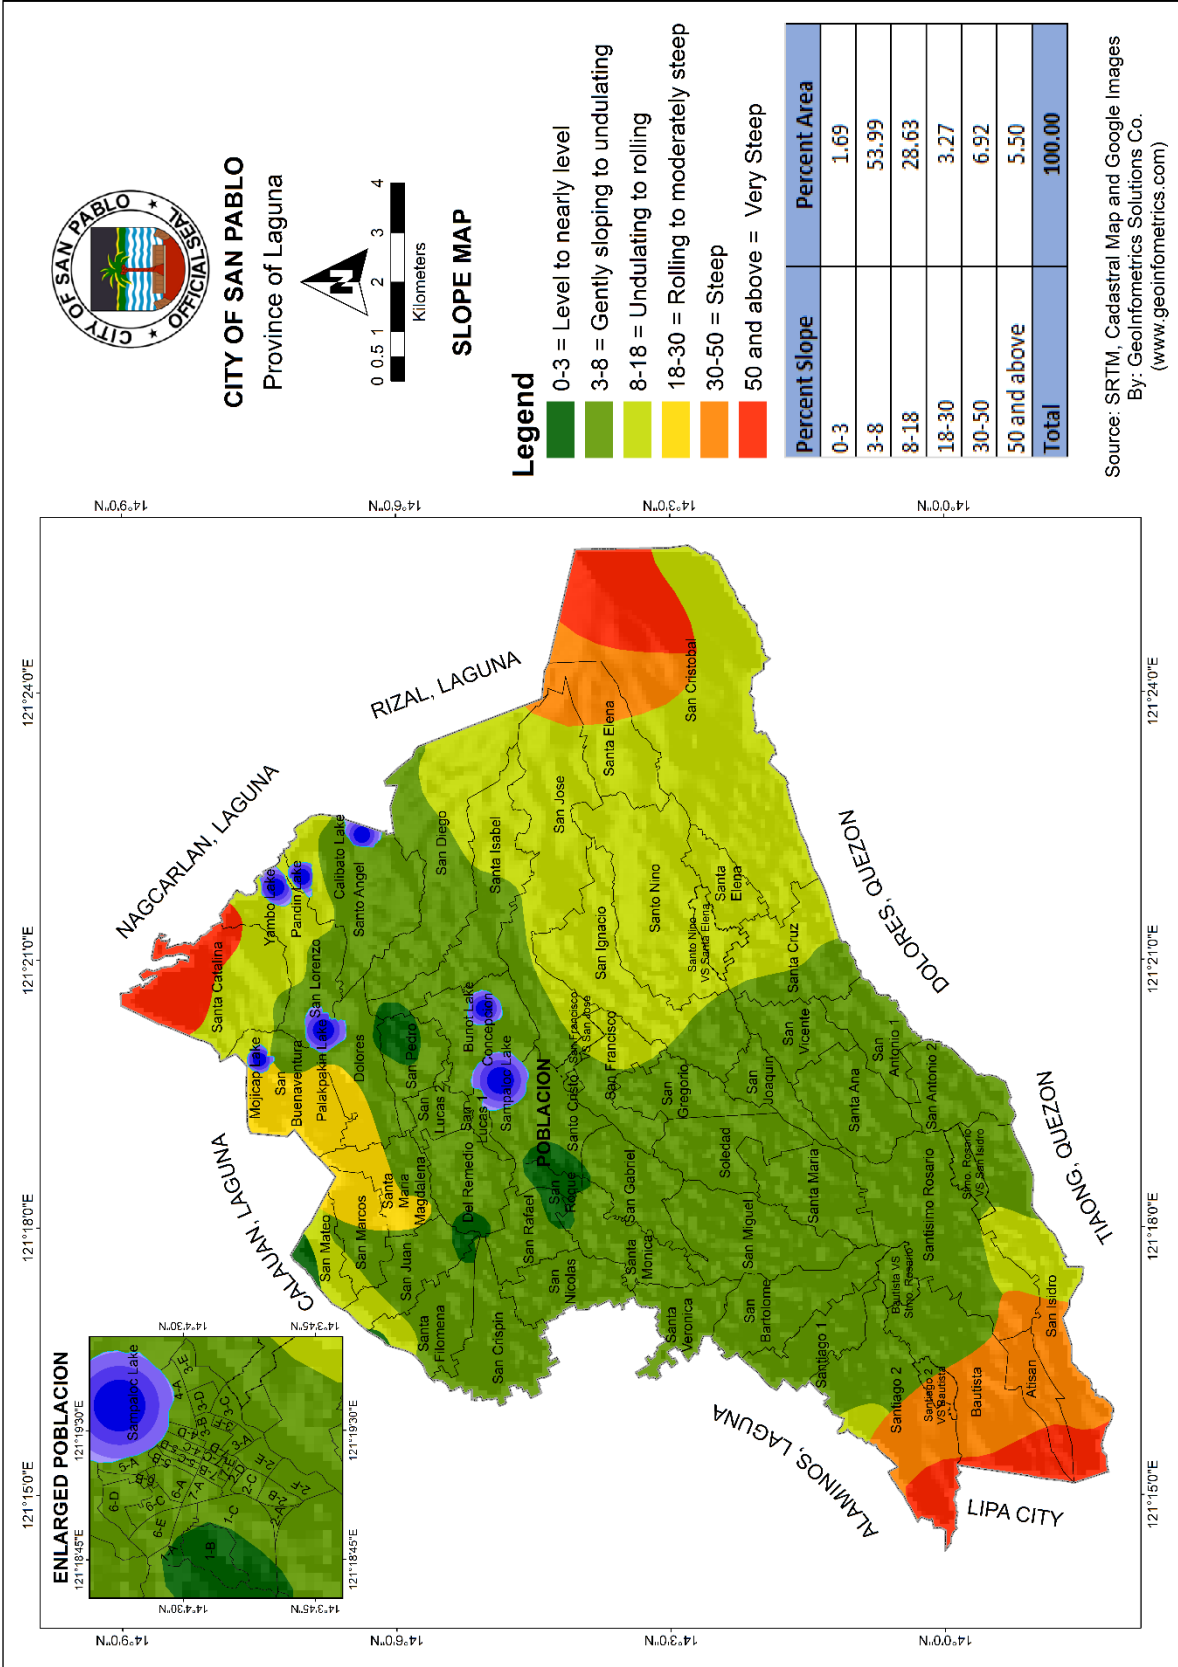

Calumpang Clay, which is about 268.64 hectares or 1.35% of the City's total area. This soil type is characterized as having a good external drainage. This is the most appropriate soil type for lowland rice, however, it is not recommended for diversified crops due to its internal drainage. Calumpang Clay can be found in the higher elevations of San Cristobal.

Ibaan Loam which was formed from volcanic tuff found from plain to mountainous relief comprises 541.31 hectares or 2.74% of the City's total land area. Like Calumpang Clay, this soil type has poor drainage.

The different soil types in the City are represented by two (2) distinct geologic characteristics - both which are volcanic and pyroclastic in origin.

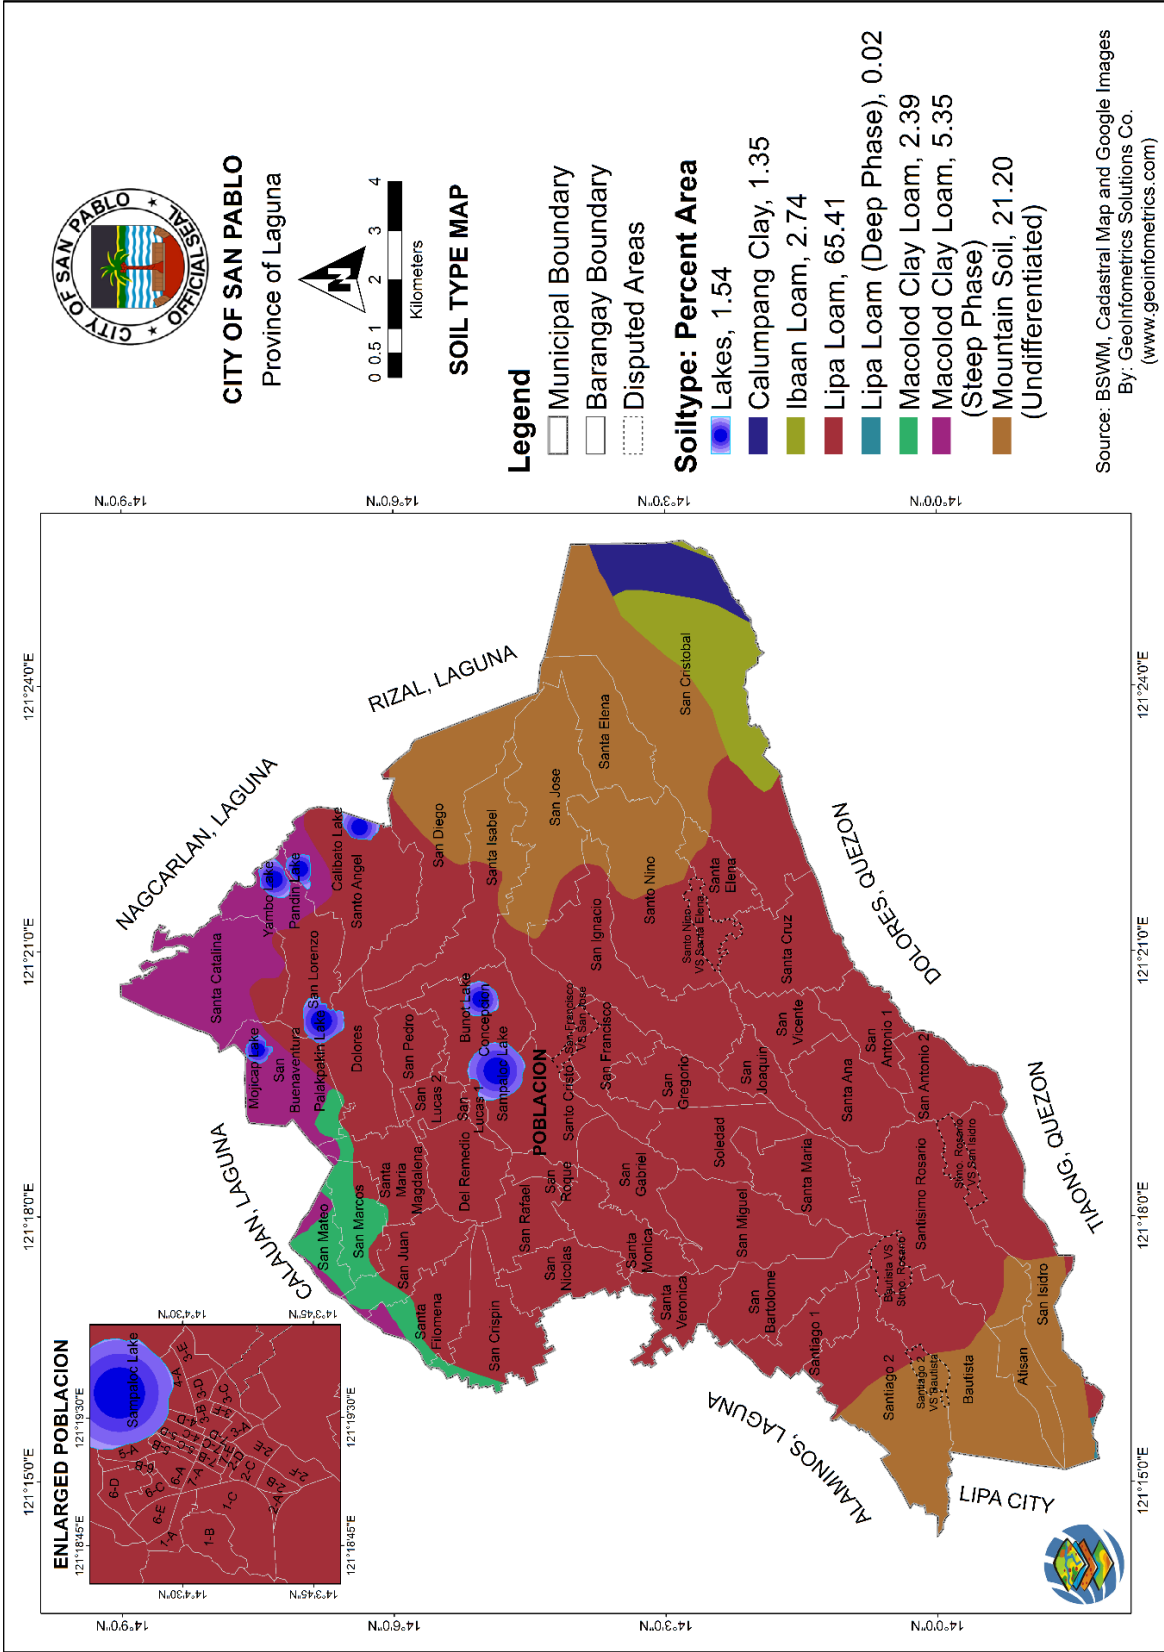

QV Type (Quaternary) or volcanic flow comprises 23.45% of the City's total land area. These areas are found in high elevated Barangays of Sta. Catalina, San Mateo, San Marcos, Sta. Elena, San Cristobal, Santiago 2, Bautista, Atisan, parts of Stmo. Rosario and San Isidro.

QVP Type (Pliocene-Quaternary) or pyroclastic and volcanic mudflow deposits, on the other hand, comprises 75.01% of the City's total land area. These soils are found in the remaining lower elevation barangays, comprising of 75.01% of the City's land area.

2.2.3 Land Capability Classes

Land capability classification is a system of grouping soils primarily on the basis of their capability to produce common cultivated crops and pasture plants without deteriorating over a long period of time.

Capability Class A

This class comprise both soils of Lipa and Macolod Series. These soils are level, deep-well drained, acidic, and friable. They are also moderately permeable. These soils are high in phosphorous, potassium, and organic matters which makes it highly suitable to any perennial field crop, sugar cane, pineapple, vegetable, wetland paddy rice, annual upland field crops (corn, upland rice, soybeans, peanuts) root crops, lanzones, banana, cacao, and mango.

Green manuring is recommended to maintain the friable condition of the soils. Soils belonging to this class are Lipa Clay loam and sandy loam. Most of the drainage systems of the City traverse this area so that irrigation water is highly available.

Capability Class B

However, these soils are prone to slight erosion. Thus, good soil conservation such as contour ploughing, strip cropping, sub-soiling, and green manuring is recommended to prevent erosions and to further improve soil condition for productivity. Water is available for irrigation with the creeks and rivers as main sources. Likewise, these soils can be utilized for crops suited to Class A lands.

Water is available for irrigation with the creeks and rivers as main sources. Likewise, these soils can be utilized for crops suited to Class A lands.

Capability Class C

This class comprises the following soils types: Lipa, Macolod, and San Cristobal Series. The soils characterized as deep, well drained and have moderately slow permeability. With moderate slopes ranging from 8% to 15%, these soils are located along the back slopes, foot slopes, and toe slopes of the mountain areas in the City. The soil types include: Lipa clay, Macolod clay, and San Cristobal Loam.

Upland cropping and use of broad-base terracing, strip cropping, and contour ploughing is advised to prevent soil erosion. Furthermore, soil management practices such as green manuring, use of lime and fertilizer and soil conditioning additives should also be considered to improve soil condition and productivity. These soils may also be utilized for diversified field crops such as those in Class A lands.

Capability Class D

Capability Class D is comprised of the soils of Lipa, Macolod and San Cristobal series. These soils can be found along the shoulders, back slopes and rolling toe slopes of the mountain areas in the City and is prone to severe soil erosion. The soil types include Lipa Clay, Macolod Clay and San Cristobal Sandy Loam.

Moreover, these soils are best suited as pasture lands and legumes are highly recommended for forage production. However, liming is required to supplement nutrient losses due to erosion. A careful and complex conservation practice for safe cultivation is highly required.

2.3 Land Resources

Land resources are resources available from the land including agricultural land, minerals, forests, underground and surface water. These are all essential for the survival and prosperity of the population. In current times, the pressure on land resources have been significantly increasing due to continuous growth of population. Land quality, declining crop production, and competition for land has been more evident.

2.3.1 Agricultural Lands

Agricultural lands are lands devoted to or suitable for the cultivation of the soil, planting of crops, growing of trees, raising of livestock, poultry, fish or aquaculture production, including the harvesting of such farm products and other farm activities, and practices performed in conjunction with such farming operations by persons, whether natural or juridical, and not classified by law as mineral land, forest land, commercial land, or industrial land.

The Comprehensive Agrarian Reform Law (CARL) and its implementing framework, the Comprehensive Agrarian Reform Program (CARP), were introduced by the government in 1988 to address concerns on agricultural land distribution, particularly among the most disadvantaged communities, both in terms of income and living standards. Agriculture support services, rural infrastructure development and policy reforms in the sector are some government strategies that are meant to complement land distribution activities. One of the components of the Agrarian Reform is the Program Beneficiaries Development (PBD). Its coverage includes identification of the priority needs of agrarian reform beneficiaries (ARBs) and implement measures to meet their needs. PBD aims to capacitate the ARBs and provide them access to necessary support services to make their lands more productive and enable them to venture in income generating livelihood projects. It further aims to pursue the following outcomes: (1) increased household income, (2) increased yield of crops, (3) functional and sustainable ARB organizations for support services delivery, and (4) enhanced socio-economic condition of the gender equitable ARB households and communities.

Table 4 shows the categories of agricultural lands in the City. There is a total of 1,972.5364 ha of CARPable lands which comprises 44 barangays. San Cristobal has the largest CARPable land with 491.556ha, followed by Stmo. Rosario with 271.4264 ha and Bautista with 204.5744 ha. There are 1,924 ARBs in the City of San Pablo.

2.3.2 Protected Agricultural Lands

Strategic Agriculture and Fisheries Development Zones or SAFDZs are areas within the Network of Protected Areas for Agricultural and Agro-Industrial Areas for Development (NPAAAD). These strategic zones aim to improve the production, agro-processing, and marketing activities for the advancement and modernization of the agriculture and fisheries sector of San Pablo City in an environmentally and socio-culturally sound manner, with the support from the local government (Map 5).

These areas stretch from low lying areas up to the rolling edges towards the mountains surrounding the plateau. This land use type also comprises of poultry, livestock and allied industries (slaughter houses, dressing plants).

2.3.3 Land Cover

The land cover of San Pablo City is comprised of 92.33% coconut plantation, 2.73% cultivated area mixed with brushland/grassland, and arable lands covering 1.06%. Combined majority of land area devoted to agriculture while a smaller portion is comprised of built-up areas, bodies of water, and open canopy areas (Map 6).

2.4 Existing General Land Use

The existing general land use of San Pablo City is generally characterized as agriculture covering a total of 14,305.74 hectares or 72.41% of the City's total land area (Map 7). Agricultural areas include protection areas (NPAAD and SAFDZ), production (crops, orchards and pasture lands) as well as poultry, livestock, and allied industries (slaughter houses, dressing plants)

Encompassing an area of 2,537.06 hectares or 12.84% of the City's total land area is the residential area. Residential or built up area is highly concentrated in urban barangays. However, the City establishes centric and nodal development that is evident in the poblacions of the rural barangays. Facilities and services in rural barangays are provided in the central core of the urban barangays. Moreover, an area of 83.41 hectares or 0.42% of the City's total land area are allotted for socialized housing.

Forest and Forest Land covers about 6.89% of the City's total land area (1,361.39 ha). It is comprised by clearly delineated portions of proclaimed protection forest reserves (MSCMBPL and Malabanban Forest Reserve) as well as hilly parts of Barangays Sta. Catalina, Santiago 2, Bautista, Afisan, and San Isidro.

Land area of infrastructure/utilities, transportation and services covers a total land area of 278.42 hectares or 1.41% of the City's total land area.

As for the tourism and ecotourism areas, it comprises 344.06 hectares or 1.74% of the City's total land area. Most of these areas are those that include the five (5) lakes: Mohicap, Palakpakin Yambo, Pandin, and Calibato.

Covering all the seven (7) crater lakes of the City, it comprises 304.884 hectares or 1.54% of the City's total land area. Waterways, on the other hand, comprises 306.42 hectares (1.55%).

A total of 105.23 hectares and 62.97 hectares of the City's land area are allotted for constitutional and institutional land uses, respectively. Commercial areas are located parallel to main roads and in the urban core of Poblacion. On the other hand, institutional areas include schools, hospitals and medical facilities, and various government infrastructures.

Other land uses such as cemetery, sanitary landfill, industries and parks comprise the 0.34% of the City or 66.50 hectares.

2.5 Freshwater Resources

San Pablo is abundant with freshwater resources due to the presence of the seven lakes and the different rivers and creeks in the city. These provide water for domestic, agricultural, industrial, recreation, and power generation purposes.

2.5.1 Surface Run-off

According to the San Pablo City Water District (SPCWD), there are seven (7) existing water supply, namely, Cabunsod, Malabanban, Malaunod, Malamig, Balanga, Lagaslasan, and Baloc Springs; and nine (9) production wells strategically located in Barangays San Mateo (1), Sta. Catalina (1), San Marcos (2), SPC Central School (1), San Pedro (1), San Antonio I (1), San Cristobal (1), and Concepcion (1), with a total of monthly rated production capacity of 1,904,310 cubic meters.

The rivers and creeks which can be found in the City are listed below:

2.5.2 Inland water resources/surface drainage

The City of San Pablo is endowed with seven (7) lakes which are considered the most attractive surface water supply of the City. The characteristics of these lakes are shown in Table 6. Sampaloc Lake which is located near the City Hall have the widest surface area measured at 99.21 hectares while Mohicap Lake has the smallest surface area (20.49 hectares). In terms of maximum depth, Calibato Lake is the deepest with a maximum depth of 135 meters. Palakpakin Lake, on the other hand, is the shallowest with only a maximum depth of 7.50 meters. Moreover, Map 8 shows the existing water use of San Pablo City.

Table 6. Characteristics of the Seven Lakes of San Pablo City, 2013

2.5.3 The Seven Lakes

San Pablo City is famous for its majestic seven (7) lakes. These seven (7) lakes are swarming with various fish species and other faunal species that are able to supply the City and its neighbouring municipalities.

i. Sampaloc Lake

Located near the City Hall, Sampaloc Lake is the largest and probably the most popular among the seven lakes. It is sunk in a shallow depression revealing its volcanic origin and has a surface area of 99.21 hectares with maximum depth of 27 meters and 1,400 m<sup>3</sup> volume of water. It is covered by five Barangays, namely: Brgy. IV-A, Brgy. IV - C, Brgy. V-A, Brgy. Concepcion and Brgy. San Lucas I. Furthermore, Sampaloc Lake is blessed with tilapia, dalag, ayungin, bangus, carpa, catfish, dulong, and various species of shrimps. Today, it is surrounded by mini parks built by various civic organizations.

i. Calibato Lake

Calibato Lake is located in Barangay Sto. Angel. It is the deepest among the seven lakes having a maximum depth of 135.00 meters with 29,600 m<sup>3</sup> volume of water and 27.18 hectares surface area. It is located 6.40 kilometers away from the City proper. Likewise, Calibato Lake is abundant in various fish species and other species like tilapia, carpa, hito, dalag, gurami, big heads, bangus, hipon, bitoo, kuhol, and ayungin.

i. Pandin Lake and Yambo Lake

Pandin and Yambo Lakes are famously known as “The Twin Lakes”. Both lakes are characterized as oligotrophic since they have deep clear waters with low nutrient supplies, high dissolved oxygen level and contains little organic matter.

Surrounded by Barangays San Lorenzo and Sto. Angel, Pandin Lake lies 6.30 kilometers away from the City proper. It has a surface area of 24 hectares with a maximum depth of 63 meters and approximately 6,600 m<sup>3</sup> volume of water. Furthermore, it is swarming with lots of tilapia, hito, dalag, bangus, carpa, bighead, hipon, dulong, bakuli, bitoo, kuhol, yapyap, gurami, and ayungin.

Yambo Lake, is located in Barangay San Lorenzo and is adjacent to Pandin Lake. Yambo Lake is located 6.70 kilometers away from the City proper. It has a surface area of 36 hectares with a maximum depth of 40 meters and approximately 5,800 m<sup>3</sup> volume of water. Yambo Lake is a sanctuary of various kinds of fish and other species such as tilapia, carpa, hito, gurami, bighead, bangus, hipon, bitoo, kuhol, and ayungin. It is also suitable for swimming, outings and picnics.

ii. Bunot Lake

Located in Barangay Concepcion, Bunot Lake lies 2.20 kilometers away from the City proper. It has a surface area of 38.16 hectares with a maximum depth of 23 meters and approximately 3,500 m<sup>3</sup> volume of water. Bunot Lake is used primarily for floating cages operation where most of the resident derived their source of income. It is also a major source of tilapia for Metro Manila and suburbs.

iii. Mohicap Lake

Mohicap Lake in Barangay San Buenaventura is situated 5.60 kilometers away from the City proper. It has a surface area of 20.49 hectares with a maximum depth of 30 meters and approximately 2,000 m<sup>3</sup> volume of water. It is rich in various fish species such as tilapia, carpa, bighead, bangus, dalag, hito, gurami, hipon, bitoo, kuhol, and ayungin. Lake Mohicap is one of San Pablo City's main source of water to this day.

iv. Palakpakin Lake

Palakpakin Lake is surrounded by three (3) Barangays, namely Barangays San Buenaventura, San Lorenzo, and Dolores. It has a surface area of 54.49 hectares and an average depth of 7.7 meters. The Lake's inlet is connected with the outlet of lakes Calibato and Pandin. Palakpakin Lake is the shallowest among the seven (7) lakes and is utilized as a communal fishing ground. It is rich in different species such as tilapia, bangus, dalag, hito, gurami, ayungin, carpa, hipon, big head, bakuli, bitoo, kuhol, dulong, and tahong.

2.5.4 Groundwater Resources

Groundwater resources are abundant in San Pablo due to the presence of seven (7) springs in the different barangays: Cabunsod Spring, Upper Malamig Spring, and Malaunod Spring in Barangay San Diego, Malabanban Spring in Barangay Sto. Angel, Lagaslasan Spring in Barangay San Jose, Balanga Spring in Barangay San Antonio I, and Baloc Spring in Barangay San Ignacio.

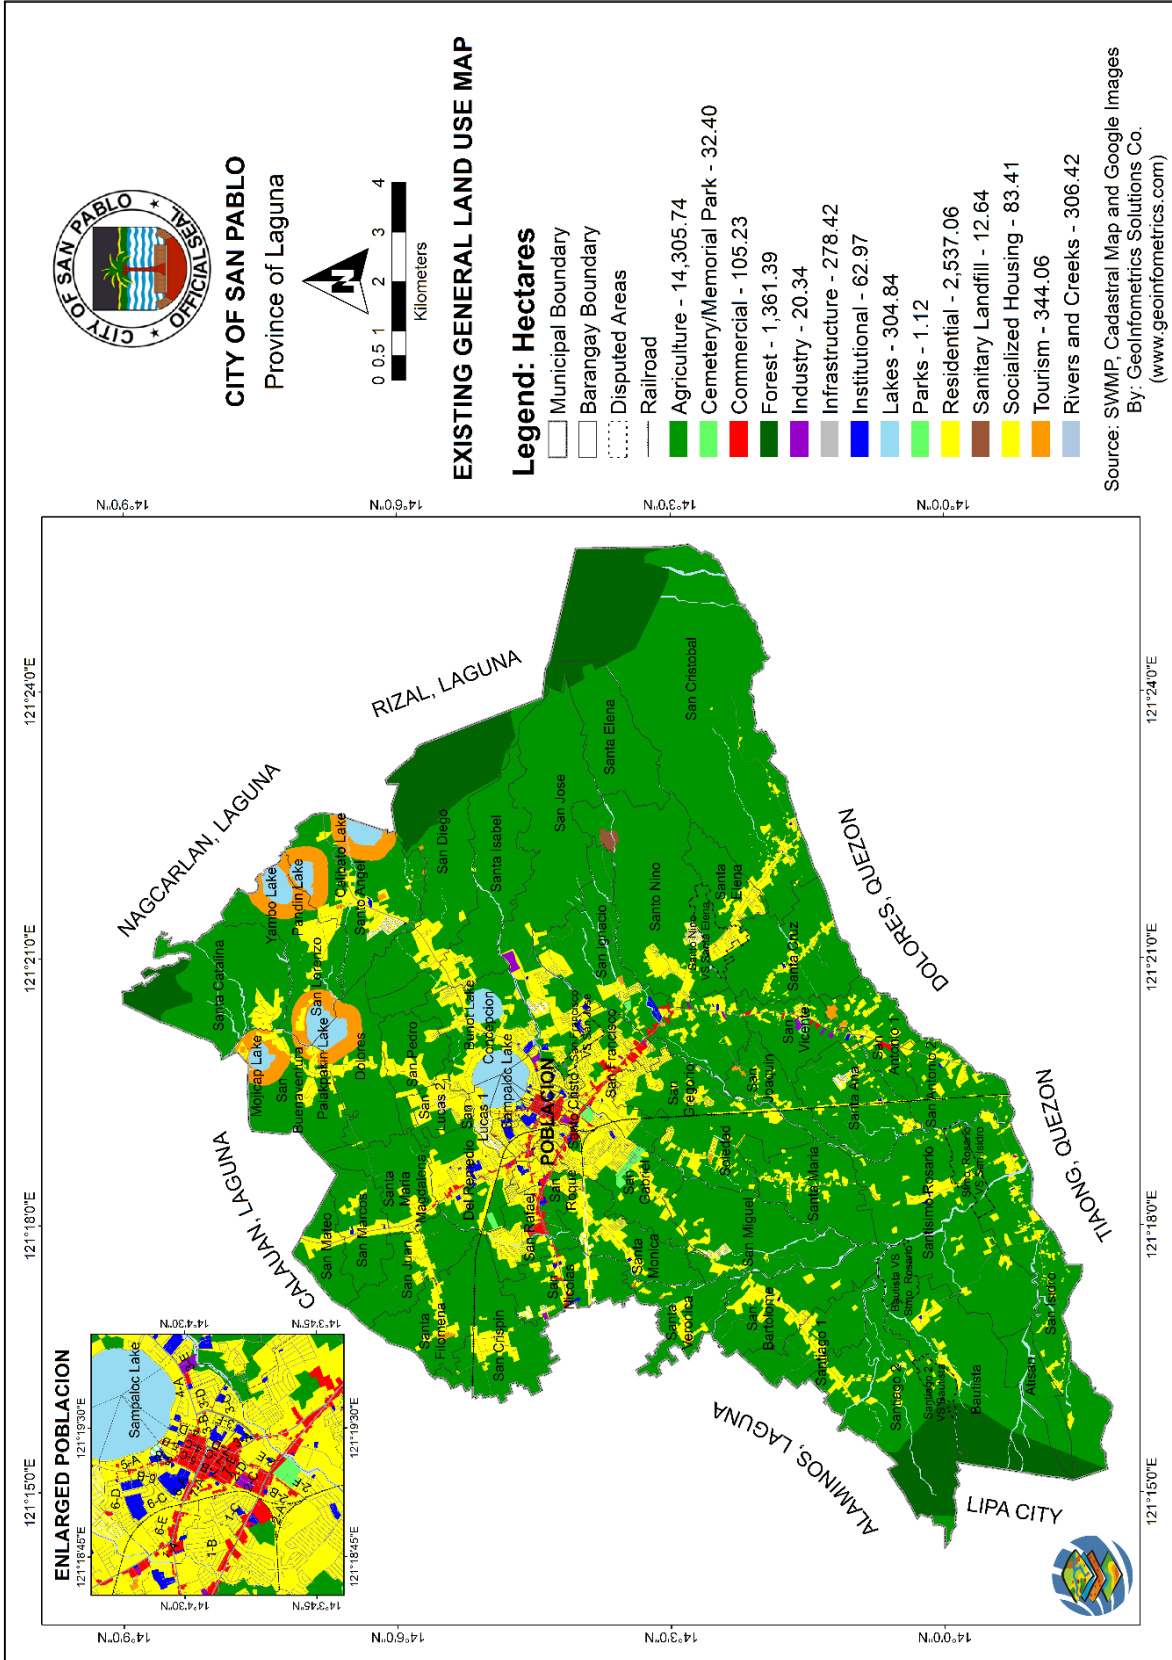

Also, as mentioned, there are nine (9) production wells existing in the City: Barangay San Mateo, Barangay Sta. Catalina, Barangay San Marcos, SPC Central School, Barangay San Pedro, Maharlika, Barangay San Cristobal, Barangay Concepcion and San Antonio I (Israel Village). According to San Pablo City Water District, it has a total annual rated production capacity of 14,258,676 cubic meters.

2.6 Forest Resources

The representation of the City's forest resources was derived from its land classification map of alienable and disposable land such as production and protection areas, maps and Presidential Proclamation on its forest. More than three-fourths (89.42%) or 17,665.82 hectares of the City's total land area are classified as alienable and disposable land.

At present, San Pablo has no identified production forests, though, there are private lands operating under permits which are intended for harvesting timber forest products in various barangays of San Pablo. According to the Provincial Environment and Natural Resources Office (PENRO) of Laguna, 2006 data showed that there are Private Land Timber Production (PTLP) in Barangays San Jose, San Joaquin, San Rafael, and San Miguel of San Pablo City and Barangay San Agustin in Alaminos, Laguna.

Map 7. Existing General Land Use Map of San Pablo City

Map 8. Existing Water Use Map of San Pablo City

Also reported by PENRO in 2006, is a mini forest park (urban forestry project) in Sta. Filomena Elementary School Mini-Forest covering 1.03 hectares. The local government identified another mini-forest in the city, Doña Leonila, which is located in Barangay V-E.

San Pablo City has two (2) proclaimed protection forest under the declaration of the National Government and City's forest reserves/protected landscape: Mount Banahaw-San Cristobal Protected Landscape (MBSCPL) and Malabanban Forest Reserve (Map 9).

In May 21, 1941, Mount Banahaw-San Cristobal was declared as a National Park by President Manuel L. Quezon through Proclamation No. 716. In August 9, 1966 (Proclamation No. 75) amendments on the coverage of the MBSCPL were made. It was later on reclassified as a Protected Landscape in 2003 through the issuance of Proclamation No. 441 by President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo. It covers an area of approximately 11,133.30 hectares falling under the jurisdiction of ten (10) Municipalities/City from two provinces: Laguna and Quezon:

LAGUNA	QUEZON
San Pablo	Lucban
Liliw	Sariaya
Nagcarlan	Candelaria
Rizal	Tayabas
Majayjay	Dolores

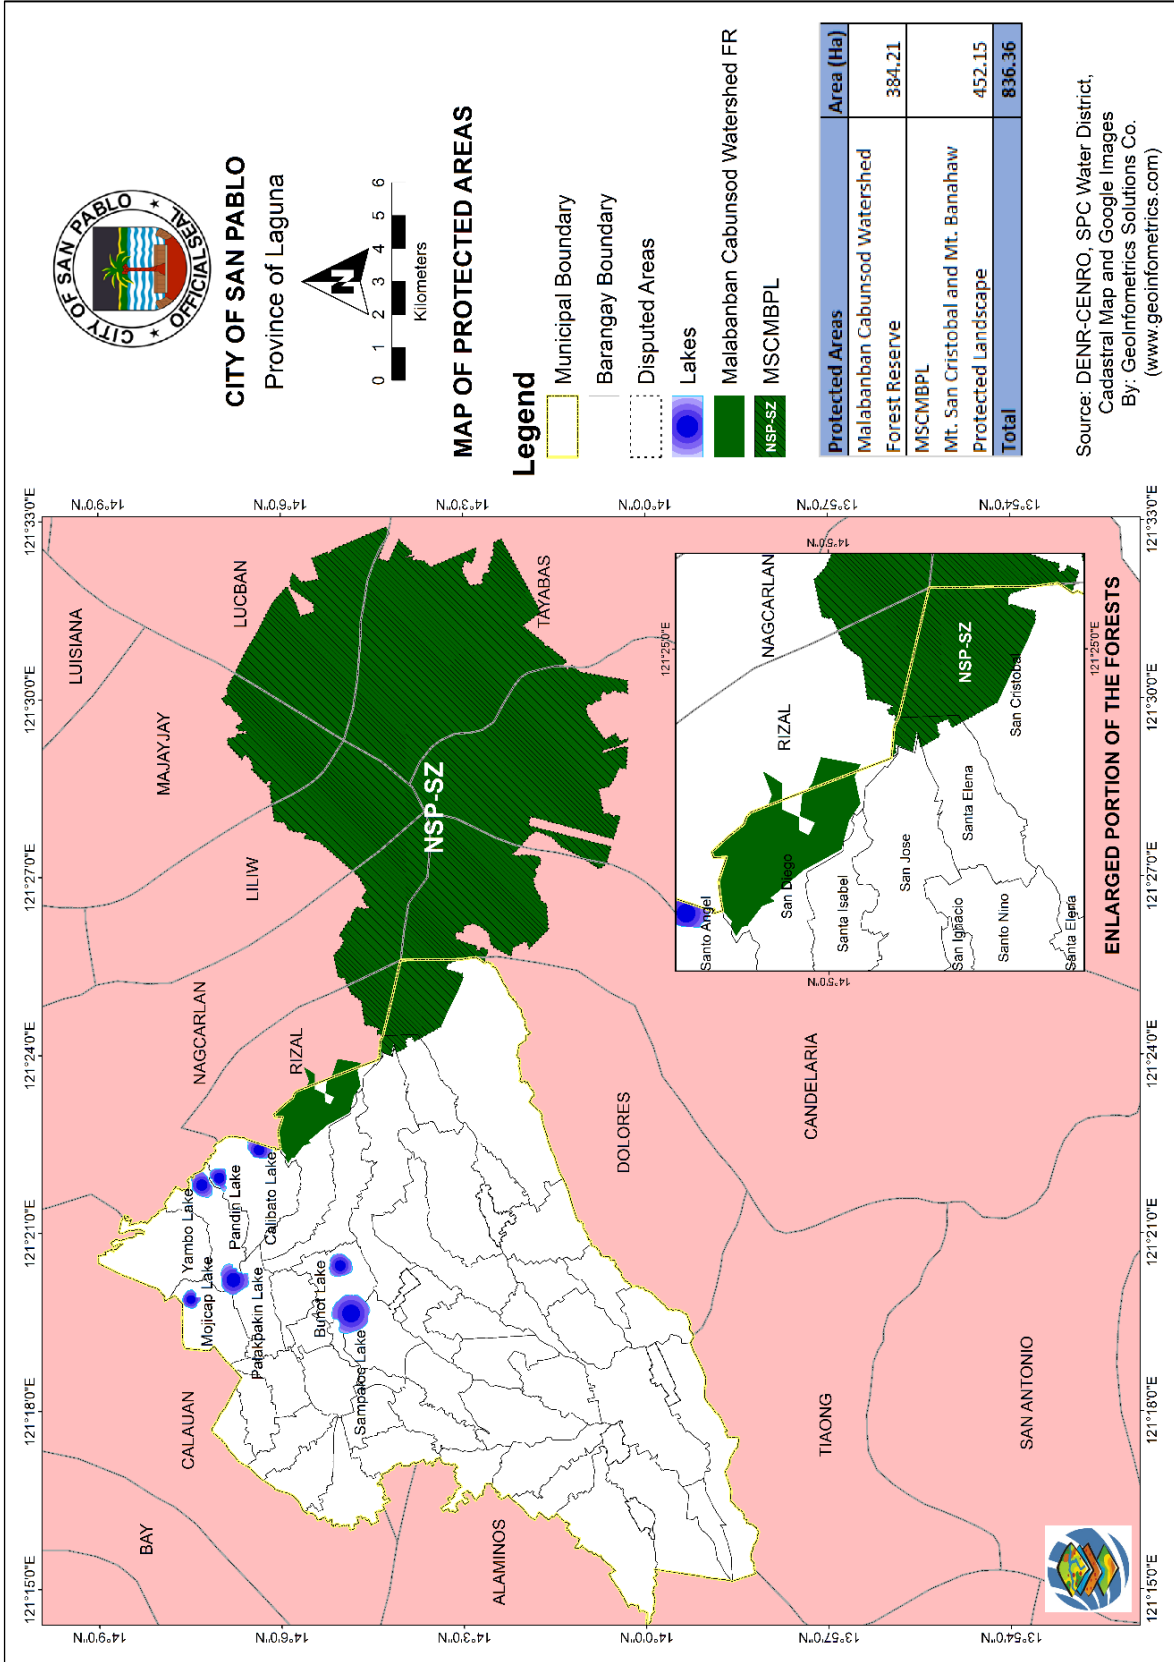

It was later on declared under the National Integrated Protected Areas System (NIPAS) Law by virtue of Republic Act 9847, also otherwise known as Mts. Banahaw – San Cristobal Protected Landscape (MBSCPL) Act of 2009 on December 11, 2009. It covers 10,900.59 hectares of protected areas of which 452.15 hectares are under the jurisdiction of San Pablo City. These areas can be found in higher elevation parts of Barangays San Cristobal and Sta. Elena.

Moreover, MBSCPL is listed as one of the Key Biodiversity Areas (KBA) in the Philippines and is classified as “very high” priority for biodiversity conservation. It is home to 358 species of trees, 19 species of vines, 15 species of palms, 39 species of ferns, 15 species of grasses and 42 species of fungi as well as 93 species of birds, of which eight are endangered and over 20 are classified as rare. In addition, it has 68 species of mammals such as the Southern Luzon giant cloud rat, Philippine warty pig, Malay civer, Common Palm civer, Lowland forest mouse, Common short-nosed fruit bat, Philippine forest roundleaf bat and Banahaw gulantang, to name a few. There are also 38 species of reptiles, 43 species of amphibians, 188 species of insects and 76 species of butterflies. It has an intensive forest of which the most extensive stands of closed canopy forest can be found along the Laguna side of Mt. Banahaw. The forest type includes lowland dipterocarp forest on the lower slopes and montane forest above 900 m, including mossy forest around the peak. On the lower slopes of the mountains there are coconut plantations intensively intercropped with fruit trees and areas of kaingin, and the surrounding area is intensively cultivated. The forests are vital watershed for the surrounding lowlands.

The Malabanban-Cabunsod Watershed Forest Reserve in Barangays Sto. Angel and San Diego, on the other hand, was established as protection forest under Presidential Proclamation No. 82 on June 26, 1999. It covers an area of 384.21 hectares with the purpose of protecting, maintaining and improving its water yield and providing restraining mechanism for inappropriate forest exploitation and disruptive land uses. The Local Government Unit of San Pablo issued an ordinance defining the offense of illegal logging, kaingin, and hunting in the Malabanban Watershed Forest Reserve (Ordinance No. 2005-11) to impose penalties on disruptive and exploitative activities in the forest reserve.

2.7 Climate

The Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Service Administration (PAGASA) used the Corona’s Four Climate Types to classify climate in the country. San Pablo City falls under the Type III. It is characterized by no very pronounced maximum rain period with a dry period lasting only for one to three months.

The climate projections for the City of San Pablo, Laguna was based on the projected changes of different climate variables for 2020 and 2050 using the observed baseline from 1971 to 2000 (PAGASA, 2011) (Table 7). The climate projection information includes temperature, rainfall and frequency of extreme events.

Table 7. Climate projections for the City of San Pablo, Laguna

Adapted from PAGASA, 2011

Based on this climate projection, the city of San Pablo will experience an increase in temperature by 2020 and 2050 for all seasons with the highest increase in temperature during the months of March, April, and May (summer months). Decrease in rainfall will occur in the months of December, January and February, while increase in rainfall shall be expected during southwest monsoon “Habagat” and northeast monsoon “Amihan” in 2020 & 2050. The number of hot days is expected to have a significant increase by 2020 and will continue by 2050. There will also be a decrease in the number of dry days in 2020 and 2050, as compared to the baseline. With this, it is expected to have an increase in the extreme daily rainfall of >200mm for 2020 and 2050.

2.8 Environmental Management

Environmental management focuses on describing and monitoring environmental changes that occur in the City. It also seeks to predict future changes through trends. It attempts to minimize environmental degradation brought about by human activities. This section discusses natural hazards, climate and disaster risks, inventory of surface water, and solid waste management of San Pablo City.

2.8.1 Natural Hazards/Constraints

Hazard, as defined in Section 3 of the Republic Act 10121, also otherwise known as the Philippine Disaster Risk Reduction and Management Act of 2010, is a dangerous phenomenon, substance, human activity, or condition that may cause loss of life, injury, or other health impacts, property damage, loss of livelihood and services, social and disruption to livelihood, or environmental damage.

Natural Hazards can be classified into two. First is the hydrometeorological hazard which is a phenomenon of atmospheric, hydrological, or oceanographic nature; while the other one is the geologic hazard which are large-scale, complex natural events that originate from the earth. Examples of hydrometeorological hazards are typhoons, tornado, flooding, and rain-induced landslides. On the other hand, earthquakes, rock falls, volcanic eruption, earthquake-induced landslides, liquefaction, and soil erosion are examples of geologic hazards.

There are seven natural hazards identified that pose risks to the City of San Pablo based on maps provided by the Mines and Geosciences Bureau (MGB), Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical, and Astronomical Administration (PAGASA), Philippine Institute of Volcanology and Seismology (PHIVOLCS), and Bureau of Soil and Water Management of the Department of Agriculture (DA-BSWM). The following discusses the risks of flooding, soil erosion, landslide, earthquake, ground shaking, and volcanic eruption in the City of San Pablo.

These hazards may hamper developments in the City if not considered in local development plans and land use planning.

i. Flooding

Recent Climate Change Projections for the Philippines by PAGASA generally describe an increase in extreme events including stronger typhoons which could result to flooding, and rain-induced landslides. San Pablo City being classified under a Type III climate, would have wet season throughout the year with only a short dry season usually around February to April.

Natural flooding caused by overflow of adjacent rivers combined with the area's physical characteristics only affects five barangays located on the north-western side of the City. It must be noted, however, that the low portions of the Poblacion experience drainage overflow. Depth of these overflows measure less than one meter and usually subsides within an hour. Although these cannot be entirely categorized as flooding, they still pose an obstacle to the normal functions of the affected sections.

Rural and lakeshore barangays are identified as prone to flooding. San Buenaventura is at high risk while Dolores, San Lorenzo, San Marcos, San Mateo, Santa Maria Magdalena are at low risk to flooding (Map 10). Based on historical accounts of residents, the flood water usually subsides after a few hours and flows along the rivers in the barangays.

ii. Soil Erosion

Soil erosion is present in the whole of San Pablo. High erosion rates can be observed in portions of San Cristobal and Santa Catalina while moderate erosion rates can be observed in some of the northern and southwestern parts of the City. As with flooding, rural barangays in San Pablo are at risk to erosion. Residential areas in Brgy. Atisan, Bautista, Dolores, San Buenaventura, San Isidro, San Marcos and Santiago II are moderately at risk. Atisan has the most percentage (100 percent) moderately at risk followed by Buenaventura and San Isidro (Map 11).

iii. Landslide

Landslides can either be rain-induced or otherwise. It poses a serious threat in the City as it is a risk to twenty (20) barangays – particularly those in the periphery with high elevations. Landslide-prone barangays are San Cristobal, San Buenaventura, Santa Catalina, and Atisan. At high risk to landslides are the residential areas in some portion of San Buenaventura (33 percent), San Marcos, San Mateo (6 percent informal settlers), Santiago II and San Lorenzo (3 percent informal settlers). These rural barangays are also vulnerable to flooding and soil erosion.

The roads in Atisan are high risk to landslide while the roads in Brgy. Bautista, San Buenaventura, San Crispin, San Isidro, San Marcos, and San Mateo are moderately at risk. Critical point facilities- schools, health centers and chapels in some barangays- are at low risk.

San Isidro is the only barangay identified as moderately at risk to landslide in terms of natural resources production, with possible damages to rice, rambutan, and lanzones (Map 12, Map 13, Map 14).

i. Earthquake/Groundshaking

There are no recorded faultline in the area. However, local knowledge claims that there is a faultline within the City. Although there is no record of a faultline, there are two recorded earthquakes dated April 4, 2013 (magnitude 2.8) and Nov 19, 2013 (magnitude 2.77)<sup>1</sup> both epicenters of which are recorded to be in San Pablo City.

All exposure units in the City are at low risk to earthquake (Map 15). The likelihood of occurrence is very low or rare although the degree of impact of such intensity would be very destructive.

ii. Volcanic Eruption

Located 11.11km east of the City Proper is Mt. San Cristobal, a dormant volcano. Meanwhile, 18.2km southeast of the City Proper is Mt. Banahaw, an active volcano with three recorded volcanic eruptions which occurred in 1730, 1743, and the most recent in 1843. According to the susceptibility map on volcanic hazards there are nine (9) barangays are at risk of volcanic hazards namely San Cristobal, San Diego, San Ignacio, San Jose, Santa Isabel, and Santo Angel (Map 16).

2.8.2 Climate and Disaster Risk Assessment

Disaster Risk is computed by getting the product of hazards and vulnerability divided by the capacity of the community to cope with and respond to a disaster. The map below shows an aggregate of all hazards- geologic and climate-induced – present in San Pablo City.

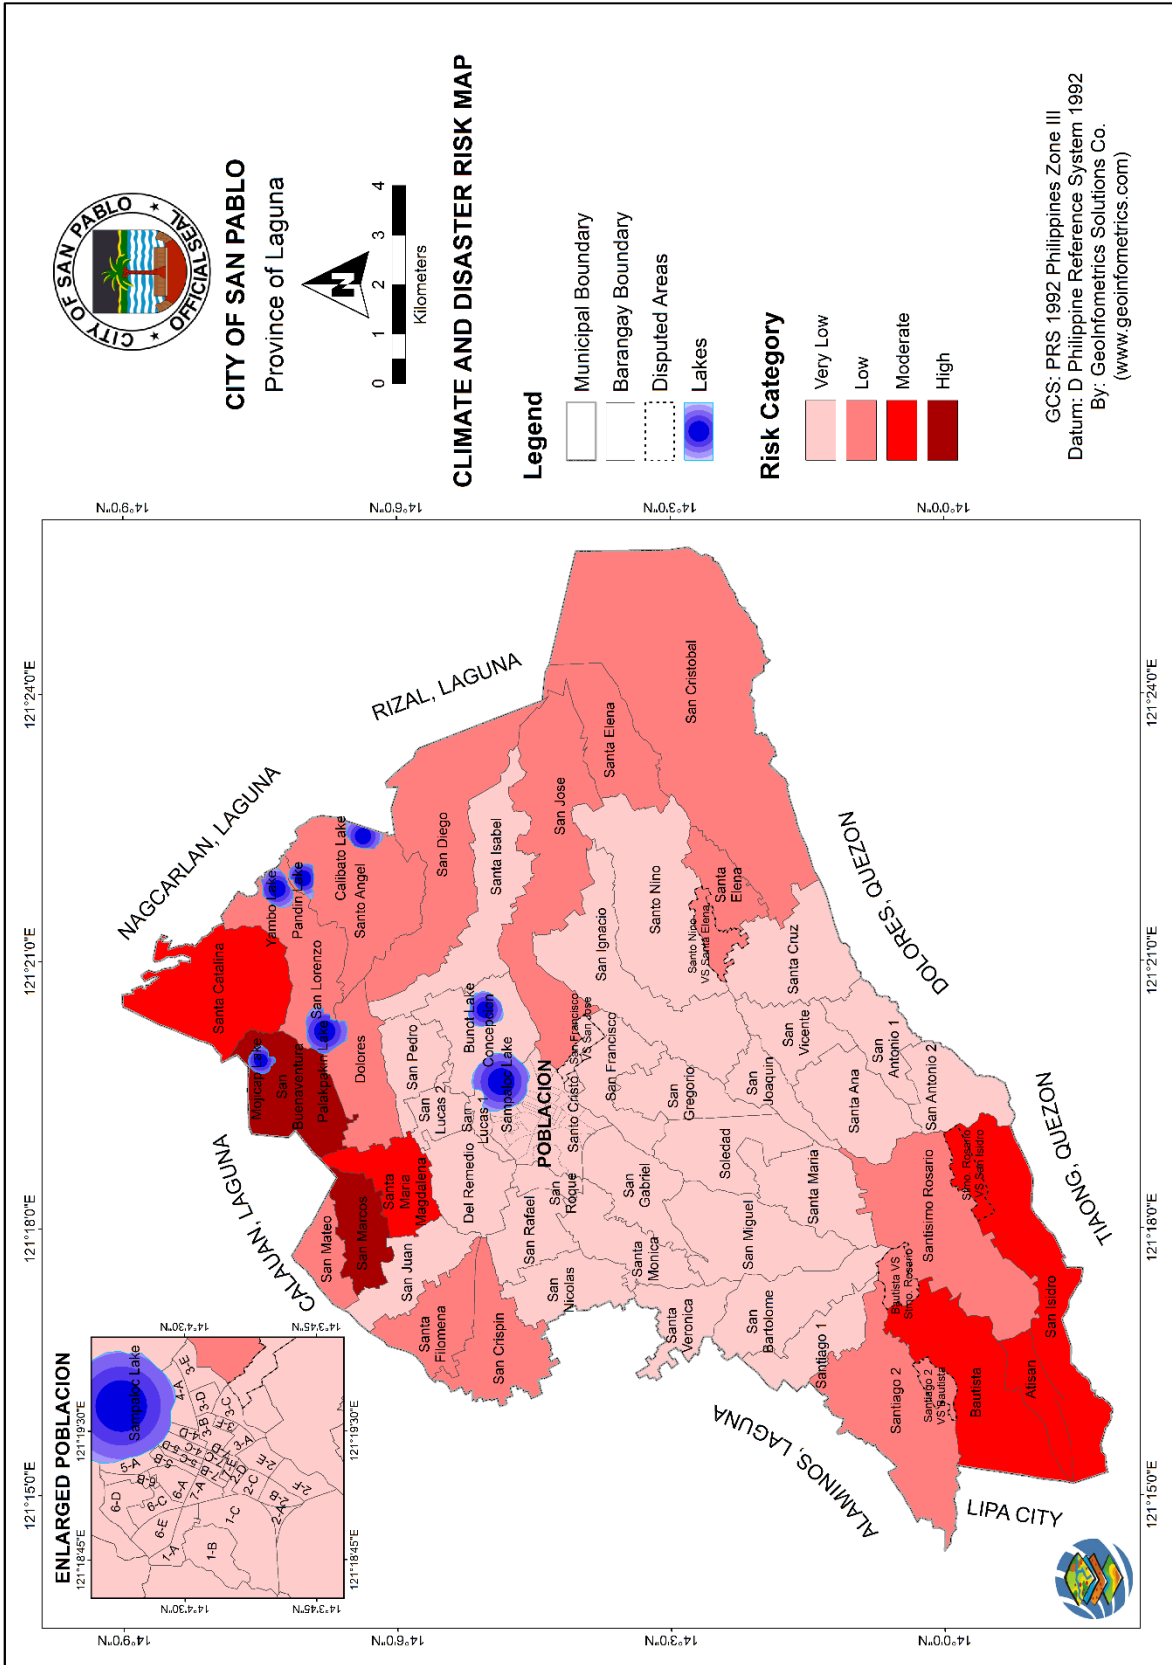

Risk scores per hazards were added for each barangay. Hazards were ranked based on their likelihood of occurrence and severity of consequence. Weights are assigned to hazards are as follows:

Rank	Hazard	Weights
1	Flood	0.30
2	Landslide	0.25
3	Erosion	0.20
4	MGB	0.10
5	Earthquake	0.10
6	Volcanic	0.05

The next step done was the Spatial Overlay in GIS to get the Risk Index. Total scores per hazard were computed as done in the first step and multiplied by the corresponding weights:

$Risk = (Flood*0.30) + (LS*0.25) + (Erosion*0.20) + (MGB*0.10) + (EQ*0.10) + (Volcanic*0.05)$ . Resulting values were normalized to remove extreme values =  $(Risk\ Index - Minimum\ Value)/(Maximum\ Value - Minimum\ Value)$ . Same with vulnerability, the assigned risk classes are: very low, low, moderate and high.

As observed in the risk map produced through GIS, Barangay San Buenaventura and San Marcos are the most at risk to hazards (Map 17). Considering the vulnerabilities of these rural barangays, they are the most likely to be impacted by future disaster events.

2.8.3 Inventory of Surface Water by Class

Table 8 describes the classification and type of surface water present in San Pablo City. All lakes of the city are classified as C except Yambo lake which is classified as A. The lakes provide livelihood for the people of San Pablo through aquaculture and tourism. Meanwhile, there are 17 rivers, majority classified as C; 7 springs under classification A; and 7 creeks which fall under classification C. San Pablo has 9 production wells (Class A) which supplies water to large portions of the City.

The classification of types of surface water are as follows:

Class AA (Public Water Supply Class I)

Intended primarily for waters having watersheds which are uninhabited and otherwise protected and which require only approved disinfection in order to meet the National Standards for Drinking Water of the Philippines.

Class A (Public Water Supply Class II)

Sources of Water supply that will require complete treatment (coagulation, sedimentation, filtration and disinfection) in order to meet the National Standards for Drinking Water of the Philippines.

Class B (Recreation Water Class)

Intended for primary contact recreation such as bathing, swimming, ski diving, etc., particularly those designated for tourism purposes.

Class C

Fishery waters for the propagation and growth of fish and other fish and aquatic resources; Recreational Water Class II (boating, etc.); and Industrial Water Class I for manufacturing process after treatment.

Class D (Industrial Water Supply Class I)

For agriculture, irrigation and livestock watering, cooling, and other inland waters, etc.

2.8.4 Solid Waste Management

Table 9 indicates the solid waste generated and collected in the City. Three-fourths (75%) of the solid waste generated are domestic wastes which are collected daily and the rest are commercial and industrial wastes. Of the total volume of the waste generated in the City, only 45% are collected and are disposed through the Sanitary Landfill and Materials Recovery Facility (MRF) in Sitio Baloc.

3. POPULATION AND SOCIAL PROFILE

Determining the population and its trends is an important part of planning. Population is used as a basis for determining whether public services like schools, health centers, recreational facilities, power, and water supply, is adequate and accessible. It also provides guidelines for deciding total land requirements and the basis of land between different competing land uses.

3.1 Social Composition and Characteristics

3.1.1 Household Population by Age Group and Sex

The table below shows the 2015 PSA data on household population distribution by age-group and sex of San Pablo City, as well as the predicted 2017 population. Based on the PSA data, the 2017 predicted household population of San Pablo City is 268,259 (Table 10). Meanwhile, the city population office has recorded a total population of 277,433. It increased by 4.2% from a population of 266,068 in 2015. Looking at the population per age group, it can be observed that the population of San Pablo City is composed mostly of teens and children. San Pablo City has an expansive pyramid which has a broad base that indicates high fertility (Figure 1).

3.1.2 Sex Ratio, Age-Dependency Ratio, and School-Age Population

Sex Ratio is the number of males per 100 females in a population. A value of < 1 indicates that there are more female than male births. As shown in Table 11, there are more females than male in San Pablo City across all age groups.

Age-dependency ratio, on the other hand, is the ratio of population in the dependent ages of 0-14 years and 65 years and over to the working population (15-64years of age). The age-dependency ratio of San Pablo City is 54.94%; young-age dependency is 47.80% and the old-age dependency ratio is 7.14%. These figures imply that there might be an increased burden on the economically productive population to provide for the needs of the economically dependent population.

3.1.3 Household Population by Highest Educational Attainment

The 2015 Philippine Census showed that more males have graduated elementary, high school, and undergraduate studies but more females finished graduate studies than males. Generally, the number of residents attaining higher level of education lessens primarily because of economic reasons such as high cost of tuition fees and school expenses (Table 12).

3.1.4 Labor Force

Labor Force is defined by the Philippine Statistics Authority as the population ages 15 to 64. The labor force participation rate (LFPR), on the other hand, is the ratio between the labor force and the population 15 years and over.

The Philippines has a LFPR of 60.4%, and Region IVA has a participation rate of 62.4%. Meanwhile, San Pedro City has a computed LFPR of 93.33%.

3.1.5 Mother Tongue

Mother Tongue is defined as the language/dialect first learned by a person to speak. In San Pablo City, majority of the population (92.96%) are listed Tagalog as their mother tongue, followed by Bikol (1.16%), and Ilonggo (0.86%) and Ilonggo (0.86%). Tagalogs originate from the Southern Tagalog Region (Calabarzon) where San Pablo City is located. Bikol, on the other hand, originates from the neighboring Region V. Ilonggos from the Visayas; and Ilongot from the north eastern part of Luzon.

3.1.6 Religious Affiliations

Reflective of the great influence of the Spanish regime in the country is the dominance of Catholicism in the City (79%). It is followed by the INC (Iglesia ni Cristo), and Born Again Christians which comprise 7.76% and 4.59% of the population. The remaining population either belong to Baptist, Aglipay, or other religious affiliations.

3.1.7 Marital Status

Marital Status is defined by the PSA as the status of an individual in relation to marriage. It can be classified as follows: a) Single – a person who has never been married; b) Married – a couple living together as husband and wife, legally or consensually; c) Divorced – a person who has been legally separated and who therefore can remarry; d) Separated – a person separated legally from his/her spouse because of marital misunderstanding; e) widowed – a person whose bond of matrimony has been dissolved by the death of his/her spouse; and f) common-law – a partner created by mutual agreement and public behaviour, not by civil or religious ceremony. Shown in Table 14 is the projected household population by Age group, Sex, and marital Status in 2017. It is understood that majority of the residents of San Pablo City are single 41.76%, while 39.21% are married, and 10.62% are living together. Widows amount to 5.46%. and the aggregate of the separated and divorced individuals amounts to 2.92% of the recorded population.

3.2 Population Size and Growth Rate

3.2.1 Total Household Population

Table 15 indicates the total population, households and average household size by barangay of San Pablo City for the last three years (2015-2017). San Pablo City has 80 barangays disaggregated to 44 urban barangays and 36 rural barangays. The table shows that the total rural population is greater than the total urban population. The total number of households in the rural barangays is also greater than in the urban barangays. The land area of urban barangays in the City occupies 3,517.47ha (17.80%), while rural barangays occupy 16,238.54ha or 82.20% of the total land area. This could be the reason for the higher population in rural barangays of the city.

It is observable that population and household population of the city increased from a total population of 264,559 in 2015 and was predicted with a growth rate of 1.28% to be 267,945 in 2016 and 271,375 in 2017. The average household size of the City for the last three years is 4.

3.6 Health

3.6.1 Health Personnel and Facilities, Public and Private

In the City of San Pablo, health services are provided by hospitals (public and private), City Health Office (CHO), and Barangay Health Stations. Currently, there are seven (7) operational hospitals in the City, two (2) government owned and five (5) privately owned. San Pablo Colleges Medical Center has the largest capacity in terms of number of beds. It can accommodate a total of 135 in-patients. On the other hand, Immaculate Concepcion General Hospital can only accommodate 25 in-patients which make it the hospital with the smallest capacity. The two (2) government owned hospitals - Laguna Provincial Hospital also known as San Pablo City District Hospital located in Poblacion IV-A, and San Pablo City General Hospital in San Jose, can accommodate a total of 132 in-patients (number of beds). San Pablo Doctors Hospital and St. Francis and Paul General Hospital has a total of 90 beds. Meanwhile, Community General Hospital, though still operational, does not have updated information regarding their services. Table 23 shows the facilities, as well as the number personnel present in the said hospitals which includes doctors, nurses, midwives, sanitary inspectors, and other health personnel.

The City Health Office-Main which is located in Poblacion V-A and the City Health Extension Facility in San Jose, together with the Health Centers - Bagong Pook Main Health Center, Barangay II-D Main Health Center, Concepcion (A) Main Health Center, Del Remedio (A) Main Health Center, Sta. Maria Main Health Center, and San Jose Main Health Center, offer additional health care services in the City. Doctors, nurses, midwives and other health personnel are also available in these health centers.

Barangay Health Stations (BHS) are the units that provide primary health care services such as provision of vaccination and health monitoring of vulnerable groups such as mothers and children at the barangay level. San Pablo City has a total number of 78 BHS located in several urban and rural barangays that are administered by either a midwife or a nurse.

3.6.2 Health Indicators

i. Livebirths

Based on the data provided by the City Health Office (Table 24), the number of livebirths of male are higher than that of female for the past three years. Also, there is a decline from a total of 7,288 livebirths in 2015 to 6,898 total livebirths in 2016. Yet, in 2017, total livebirths increased by 34.

ii. Malnutrition

Malnutrition among under-five children is an important concern for the health authorities in San Pablo City. Figure 2 shows the malnutrition status of children in San Pablo City being monitored by the City Health Office from 2015-2017. Generally, malnutrition rate has been observed to decrease during this period. However, it can be noted that there is a 9.39% increase of overweight cases, and a 27.46% increase in number of children who have been identified as severely wasted (Table 25). This shows that the local government should keep on monitoring and addressing the malnutrition problem in the City.

Table 25. Number of Malnourished Children for the Last Three Years

iii. Crude Birth Rate and Death Rate

Crude birth rate and death rate is another health status indicators being monitored by the CHO. Table 26 indicates the annual crude birth rate (CBR) and crude death rate (CDR) of San Pablo City from 2014 to 2017. Among the years of 2014 to 2017, the City obtained its highest CBR in 2014 which is 28. It continuously decreased until 2016. On the other hand, the CDR of the City increased in the years 2014 to 2017. Yet, there is a decrease in the year 2017 by 2.45%. This may be due to the improvement of technology as well as medical facilities that might lead to longer life expectancy.

Table 26 . Crude Birth Rate and Death Rate in San Pablo City for the Past Four Years: 2014-2017

Year	CBR	% Increase/Decrease	CDR	% Increase/Decrease

iv. Ten Leading Causes of Morbidity (All Ages)

The ten leading causes of illness in San Pablo is enumerated in Table 27. Based on City Health Office records, acute upper respiratory tract infection (AURTI) is the primary cause of illness for the past three years, followed by essential (primary) hypertension, and other disorders of the urinary system. It can be noted that the number of cases has been constantly decreasing from 2015-2017.

v. Ten Leading Causes of Mortality (All Ages)

The Philippines' leading causes of mortality are degenerative diseases. These are diseases that are linked with unhealthy lifestyle such as abuse in smoking, improper diet, stress, and physical inactivity. For the case of San Pablo City, Coronary Artery Disease is the primary cause of mortality in 2015 to 2016, whereas Hypertensive Vascular Disease in 2017. These are followed by Malignant Neoplasm, Pneumonia, Cerebrovascular Accident, Diabetes Mellitus, and other diseases led by malfunctioning internal organs. Accidents and Violence are also among the leading causes of mortality in the City for the past three years (Table 28).

Table 28. Ten Leading Causes of Mortality for the Last Three Years, 2015-2017

3.6.3 General Health Situation

The different indicators that determine the general health situation of the City of San Pablo from 2015-2017 is described in Table 29. These include fertility, morbidity, and mortality.

Fertility refers to the live births that occur in a population. Crude birth rate (CBR) is the number of births divided by the midyear population, and is the simplest and most commonly used index of fertility. Meanwhile, morbidity refers to the frequency of disease or illnesses in a population. Mortality, on the other hand, is generally the measure of the number of deaths in a particular place and time.

From 2015-2016, the crude birth rate of the City decreased by 2%. By 2017, the CBR increased by a negligible amount. The crude death rate is observed to decrease from 2016-2017. Reduction in the CDR can be attributed to improvements in health facilities and access of the population to health care.

3.7.2 Types of Clientele

Listed in the table below (Table 31) are the types of clientele according to their disability that are registered with and served by the City Social Welfare and Development Office (CSWDO). Most of their clients are persons with mental illness and those who are impaired by orthopedic disability.

In addition, Table 32 identifies the barangays with Senior Citizen Center, also known as Bahay Pulungan, as well as the no. of registered senior citizen per barangay. There is a total of 7,658 senior citizens who have registered at the CSWDO. San Rafael has the greatest number of senior citizens followed by San Francisco and Sta. Monica.

3.7.3 Historical Number of Population Served by Clientele

Clienteles served by Social Welfare Services in San Pablo City are increasing over the years as shown by Table 33. Day Care Children have been increasing from 1,931 in 2011 to 3,805 in 2014. This indicates that parents are increasingly partnering with the government when it comes to the early development of their children. Face the Children Frontline Ministries have increased their clients from 25 children in 2011 to 34 in 2014.

3.7.4 Physical Condition of Facilities

The physical condition of social welfare and development facilities in San Pablo City is presented in Table 34. All day care and senior citizen care centers were found to be in good condition. However, there is no data on the physical condition of rehabilitation centers and women’s centers.

3.8 Housing

Housing, or more generally living spaces, refers to the construction and assigned usage of houses or buildings collectively for sheltering people from different environmental elements. In this section, different housing-related indicators will be discussed. Including the tenure status, types of housing units, housing facilities, informal settlement areas and possible resettlement sites, as well as other potential lands for housing.

3.8.1 Tenure on the House

Tenure status refers to the nature of household occupancy to housing lots and units identified in the City. It may be categorized as owned, rented, shared and borrowed. Owned lots or housing unit refers to property with land title and recipients of ancestral domain. Rented houses are those on lease while sharing and borrowing houses. As for the City of San Pablo, the latest recorded tenure status of housing by the Philippine Statistics Authority are categorized as: own/owner like possession of house and lot, rent house/room including lot, own house rent lot, own house rent free lot with consent of owner, own house rent free lot without consent of owner, rent free house and lot with consent of owner, rent free house and lot without consent of owner. Table 35 shows that out of 62,289 housing units, 59% (37,000) are listed under the category owned or owner like possession of house and lot. Meanwhile, 13% (8,242) are still renting either the house or the lot. The rest are either owned house or free lot with and without the concern of the owner or rent-free house and lot with and without the consent of the owner. Since 41% of the households do not have their own house and lot, many are still unsecured and are susceptible to eviction.

In terms of type of building, single house is the most common type of housing unit in the City. Most of which are owned by the occupants. Duplex, as well as multi-unit residential, are also prevalent housing units in San Pablo City. In 2017, the City Population Office noted that the number of owned housing increased to 45,436 while the number of rented housing increased to 8,099.

Table 35. Tenure Status of House/Lot

Type of Building	Tenure Status
	Total	Own or owner like possession of house and lot	Rent house/room including lot	Own house rent lot	Own house rent-free lot with consent of owner	Own house rent-free lot without consent of owner	Rent-free house and lot with consent of owner	Rent-free house and lot without consent of owner

3.8.2 Occupied Housing Units

According the 2010 Census of Population and Housing (PSA), the number of occupied housing units in 2010 has decreased significantly as compared to the recorded 2009 number. The number of houses needing to be repaired also decreased significantly through the years. Construction of new housing units has been recorded during the said year. Unfinished construction of housing units has been down to more than a half and is expected to be occupied and reflected in future statistics (Table 36).

Table 36. No. of Occupied Housing Units by Condition

3.8.3 Number of Households by Type of Toilet Facilities

There are different types of toilet facilities. One is the water-sealed toilet, which is the more hygienic and preferred type and the other is the open-pit type. Open-pit toilets can pollute ground water if they are not placed carefully. Improper placement of such toilets might cause sickness to the population.

As seen in Figure 3, 94% of the households have a water-sealed type toilet. While most of the residents use hygienic toilet facilities, 3% still use an open pit toilet while 2% have been recorded to have no toilets at all. This data is based on a survey conducted by the City Population Office in 2017 since it is the only current available data.

3.8.4 Sources of Drinking Water

Based on the Census of Population and Housing conducted by the PSA in 2015, the main source of drinking water of residents in San Pablo City is from own use faucet community water system (60.19%); followed by shared tubed/piped deep well (10.73%) and own use tubed/piped deep well (9.82%).

The City Population Office records, on the other hand, indicate that 79.76% of the total population in 2017 gets drinking water from piped water springs; 10.77% from dug wells, and 4.49% from protected springs.

Table 37. Number of Households by Main Source of Drinking Water, 2015

3.8.5 Type of Fuel Used for Lighting and Cooking

As of 2015, out of 62,289 households in San Pablo City, 60,371 uses electricity as the source of their lighting. Three percent (1,918) are still not connected to the power grid and 53 of these households do not use any kind of fuel for lighting. Though 3% is not that big of a number, the LGU should still address this issue and invest in the complete electrification of the City. Meanwhile, the 2017 data gathered by the City Population Office indicates that households not connected to the power grid decreased by 1%.

Table 38. Number of Households by Kind of Fuel Used for Lighting, 2015

3.8.6 Summary of Housing Facilities and Utilities

Water Supply, electricity, water sealed toilets, and garbage collection system are essential housing facilities and utilities. Table 39, indicates the number of households that are served and not served by the said services in San Pablo City. Almost all households in the City have access to electricity (99.09%). Meanwhile, 93.75% are served by the garbage collection system. In terms of water supply, there are still 300 households that are not served and 3,834 households do not have access to water sealed toilets. Water and sanitation are keys to staying healthy, therefore, these households that are not served with water and water sealed toilets should be given attention by the LGU.

Table 39. Summary of Housing Facilities and Utilities 2017

3.8.7 Informal Settlement Areas

Informal settlement areas, as defined by UN Habitat, are residential areas where the occupants have no security on tenure regarding the land or the dwellings they are residing. Table 40 shows the list of barangays together with the lot area and number of families occupying the informal settlement areas in the City in the year 2017. There is a total of 19,549.67 hectares of informal settlement areas in various barangays of San Pablo, 11,835.93 hectares of these lands are occupied by 7,575 families.

3.8.8 Displaced Units

Table 41 indicates the number of displaced units by barangay in San Pablo City. As of 2017, there is a total of 6,681 reported displaced units in the City, 1,637 of which are in danger zone thus, a subject for immediate relocation. In addition, 4,937 reported units are located on lands that may be affected by economic development due to infrastructure projects. There are also 104 units reported that are about to be demolished or focus for eviction and three (3) units situated in uninhabitable areas.

3.8.9 Resettlement Area Resettlement Area

As of 2017, there were five (5) identified areas suitable for resettlement situated in government owned lands of the City. The National Housing Authority PNR resettlement site, located in Barangay Sta Ana, is the largest resettlement area in terms of capacity since it accommodates a total of 4,500 families and with 5,000 housing units. On the other hand, the one located in Barangay San Lucas, Bagong Lipunan Sites and Services (BLISS), is the smallest in terms of capacity for it only accommodates 50 families and with 50 housing units. Concerning the utilities, facilities and amenities of the said areas, all of them have access to basic necessities: water, power, and roads. Basketball courts and telephone connection are also available (Table 42).

Table 42. Resettlement Areas in San Pablo City, 2017

3.8.10 Residential Subdivisions and Resettlement Areas

San Pablo City has a total of 107 residential subdivisions as of 2017. Seventy-nine of these are classified as open market housing or residential housing units offered to the free market. In addition, 19 of these are classified as Economic Housing authorized under BP 220, and the rest (14) are classified as Socialized Housing units-more affordable housing units. Table 43 shows the inventory of these residential subdivisions together with their location, classification, area, and number of lots or units.

3.8.11 Potential Lands for Housing

There are two (2) areas potential for socialized housing identified by the City of Urban Housing and Development Office of San Pablo City. The current actual land use of the potential land for housing in Barangay Sta. Ana is agricultural which implies that there will be conversion of land use if the area will be developed for socialized housing (Table 44).

3.9 Employment and Income

Employment is a key pillar of development. Income generated through employment contributes to the increase of demand among local traders and hence creating a cycle that promotes economy and employment.

3.9.1 Employment Rate by Sector

Employment Rate is defined by PSA as the proportion of employed persons to the total labor force. The employed populace consists of persons in the labor force who are reported either as at work or with a job or business although not at work. Further, persons at work are those who did some work, even for an hour during the reference period.

There is no available data from the PSA specifically for the employment rate of the City. However, according to the City Population Office data, San Pablo City has a 98.19% employment rate. This number includes those with blue collar and white-collar jobs, excluding overseas Filipino workers.

3.9.2 Number of Overseas Filipino Workers (OFWS)

Based on the Overseas Worker Welfare Administration (OWWA) data, the number of residents migrating abroad to find better job opportunities has been constantly increasing since 2011. The number OFWs in 2017 has doubled by more than half of the recorded 2016 data. There is a noticeable 60.85% increase of the number of OFWs from 2016-2017, and a 93% increase from 2011 to 2017 (Table 45).

Table 45. Number of Overseas Filipino Workers in San Pablo City 2011-2017

Year	Male	Female	Not Stated	Grand Total
2017	15,892	14,066	359	30,317

3.10 Protective Services

Reflected in Table 46 are the condition of protective services facilities of San Pablo City. The PNP Headquarters is strategically located in Barangay V-A with a land area of 169sq.m. On the other hand, the BFP Headquarters is in Barangay IV-C with a land area of 300sq.m.

As for the Philippine National Police serving in the City, they have a total of 85 uniformed personnel on duty. This translates to 3,264 persons served for every police officer whereas the standard police-population ratio is 1:1000. Meanwhile, the standard firemen-population ratio is 1:2000 but currently, there are only 21 fire officers employed in the Bureau of Fire Protection which gives a 1:13,211 firemen-population ratio. This implies that more personnel are needed to provide an even better service for the City.

3.10.1 Crime Incidence

Crime incidence refer to the number of reported crimes whether non-index or index. Index crimes are sufficiently significant crimes which occur with sufficient regularity. Included in this category are murder, physical injury, robbery, theft, and rape. Non-index, on the other hand, are all types of crimes not considered as index crimes. Table 47 enumerates raids conducted annually and the number of people arrested during the operations. It can be noticed that the arrests and raids decreased from 2017 to 2018.

Table 47. Number of Raids and Persons Arrested on Drug Incidents, 2016 to 2018

Year	Raids	Persons Arrested
2016	100	250+
2017	120	300+
2018 (June)	80+	200+

Note: Data are estimated
Source: Philippine National Police

The crimes recorded in 2016-2017 are listed down by sex in Table 48. The number of index crimes committed decreased from 494 in 2016 to 383 in 2017, however, the number of non-index crimes committed increased from 448 in 2016 to 527 in 2017.

Table 50 reflects the condition of protective services facilities of San Pablo City. The PNP Headquarters is strategically located in Barangay V-A with a land area of 169sq.m with 85 uniformed personnel and 9 non-uniformed personnel. This translates to 3,264 residents for every police office. The PNP has 7 patrol vehicles, five of which are operational.

On the other hand, the BFP Headquarters is located in Barangay IV-C with a land area of 300sq.m with 21 uniformed personnel and 3 NUPs. The fireman-population ratio is computed at 1:13,211. Three out of five BFP vehicles are working.

4. LOCAL ECONOMY

The local economic activities are classified depending on their contribution to the development and growth of the City. Hence, the local economy is classified into three: the primary, secondary, and tertiary sectors.

The commerce and trade sector of the locality involve minimal business operations and investments. In addition, the tourism sector of San Pablo has a good potential when it comes to strengthening the local economy. The combination and interplay of these economic sectors contributes to the development and growth of the City.

4.1 The Primary Sector

Economic activities in the primary sector is directly related to the environment or natural resources of the City. This sector produces raw materials and goods that will be processed by industries or consumed by the locals. It also assists the growth of the secondary and tertiary sectors. This sector consists of agriculture, livestock, poultry, and fisheries.

4.1.1 Agriculture

Agriculture is the practice of growing crops. It also includes raising of livestock, poultry, and fisheries. The economic structure of the City is predominantly Agriculture due to the large agricultural area present in the City.

i. Agricultural Croplands

San Pablo City has a vast area for agricultural production occupying 14,305.74 hectares of 72.41% of the total land area (CLUP,2015). Coco land intercropped with other fruit trees such as lanzones, rambutan, banana, papaya, and pineapple occupy the largest portion of agricultural lands. Rice lands which are all irrigated account to 502.26ha while corn occupies 201.7ha. In 2017, the City produced 1,217.80 metric tons of corn with value of PhP 26,780,600.00 (Table 52).

ii. Crop Production

In San Pablo City, rice is planted in about 502.26ha in 2017 from 526.25ha in 2016. Land areas allotted for crops such as rice, corn, pineapple, eggplant, and squash generally decreased from 2015-2017 while areas for other crops increased. It can also be observed from the table that there is a generally decreasing trend in the volume of crop production (Table 53).

4.2.2 Industrial Establishments by Employment Size and Capitalization

Table 62 presents a list of industrial establishments and their amount of capitalization (PhP). The aggregate capitalization of the listed industries amounts to PhP 799,295,430.8. The industrial establishments listed have a total of 1,515 employees (declared and reported), 789 of which are males and 723 are females. It must be noted, however, that the number employees reported does account all the number of employees working in the industrial sector.

4.3 The Tertiary Sector

The tertiary sector involves services which are not fit in the first two sectors. It is concentrated in the provision of services such as financial, wholesale and retail trade, transportation and communication, personal services, community services, education, medical, food, and accommodation services.

4.3.1 Summary of Tertiary Establishments

Annex Table 1 shows the list of tertiary establishments in San Pablo City. As of 2018, registered tertiary establishments accounts to a total of 5,749. Majority or 3,281 establishments offer services in line with wholesale and retail trade, and repair of motor vehicles and motorcycles.

4.3.2 Tourism

The theme of San Pablo City's Tourism Master Plan for 2015-2022 is "Beyond the Seven Lakes". As people know, the city has been known for its seven lakes and it is the LGUs desire to promote other tourism destinations in the city.

The vision eyed for San Pablo is to become a premier eco-adventure cum histo-cultural tourist destination in the CALABARZON region. With that, it has been the LGUs mission to develop a sustainable tourism program that promotes environment-friendly tourism products.

i. Summary of Tourist Establishments and Facilities

San Pablo City is known for its seven lakes. Many tourists visit the City to witness the beauty of the said bodies of water. Due to this, several tourism establishments exist in the City. According to data provided by the Tourism Office (Table 64), there are 101 tourism establishments in the City which include cafes, hotels, resorts, farms, historic parks and natural parks among others. Based on the available data, the tourism sector employs about 342 personnel which relatively has lower value in terms of income generated as compared to agriculture and manufacturing. There is still a lot to be done in terms of promoting tourism in the city for it to have a significant economic contribution.

4.4 Location Quotient

Location Quotient (LQ) is a form of evaluating how industries are concentrated in San Pablo City as compared to the whole of Laguna Province. It is a measure of what makes the City of San Pablo “unique” in comparison to the provincial average.

Due to limited data, location quotient was estimated data from PSA, 2010. Although, there is limitation with the data, it still a good indicator on which economic activity, the City can have comparative advantage. The result reveal that the City is self-sufficient in terms of Agriculture; Mining and Quarrying; Electricity, Gas, Steam and Air Conditioning Supply; and Water Supply, Sewerage, Waste Management and Remediation Activities; Human Health and Social Work Activities; and Other Service Activities. These mentioned economic activities gained a  $> 1.25$  which implies that the City exports its goods to nearby provinces, regions, or even abroad (Table 66).

5. INFRASTRUCTURE/UTILITIES/FACILITIES

5.1 Inventory of Roads by Classification, Length, Type of Pavement

The primary means of moving goods or people within the City of San Pablo and between other municipalities and provinces is land transportation, hence, roads are important to the populace.

From the latest record of road inventory by the City Engineering Office (2017), the City has a long stretch of roads with a total length of 284.37 kilometres. Table 67 shows the local inventory of roads in San Pablo City as well as their administrative classification and surface type. Most of the roads in the City are concrete, which accounts to 234.07km which provide smooth travel and accessibility to people.

The roads are classified into national, provincial, municipal, and barangay roads. Municipal roads have the largest portion among the road networks, measuring 91.24km, while national roads has the smallest portion of 24.34.

Table 67. Inventory of Roads, by System Classification and Road Surface, 2017

5.3 Inventory of Bridges by Classification, Length, Type of Construction, and Condition

According to Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH) and the City Engineering Office, in 2017, there are a total 28 bridges. However not all locations were identified (Table 69). All of the bridges listed below are concrete type except for Macopa Bridge and the one going to Bliss which are made of steel and has poor condition.

5.4 Transport Facilities

5.4.1 Mode of Transport and Facilities

The primary mode of transportation in San Pablo City are tricycles and jeepneys. Tricycles are usually used by public for transportation within the City while jeepneys are the usual transport used when traveling to neighboring municipalities. Table 70 shows a list of the type of public utility vehicles and their routes. In recent years, vans are becoming a popular mode of transportation however, there is no data on the registration of these vans, which are known to serve commuters going to other neighboring municipalities and cities.

5.5 Communication Facilities

5.5.1 Inventory of Communication Service Facilities

Table 71 shows the communication service facilities present in the City. The City has one (1) main public postal office located in Barangay VII-D. Privately owned cell sites by different companies such as SMART and Globe Telecommunications. Likewise, telephone service providers such as PLDT and Globe are present in the area.

5.6 Domestic Water Supply

The San Pablo City Water District (SPCWD), a government-owned and controlled corporation that is self-liquidating and autonomous from the local government, has been providing piped water service to the City since 1974. A corporation duly organized under PD 198 (as amended), it is tasked to contribute to the improvement of the quality of life of the residents of San Pablo City by providing potable, adequate and affordable water supply in the entire City while remaining to be a self-reliant and financially viable water district.

5.6.1 Number of Connections and Average Water Consumption

According to the summary of housing facilities and utilities data from the City Urban Development and Housing Office, the SPCWD serves 99.50% of the population in 2017. However, there was no data on the average water consumption of the residents of the City.

5.7 Electric Supply

5.7.1 Household Electrification

The only power provider in the City is the Manila Electric Company (Meralco) which serves 99.09% of the population. There are about 591 households that are yet to be served.

Table 72. Household Electrification, 2017

Year	Total Household	Estimated Electrified Household	Estimated % Household Electrification

5.7.2 Number of Connections and Average Power Consumption

The City has a total average consumption of 105,104.12 kWh and 59,023 connections (Table 73). Domestic users have the most number of connections (55,130) but industrial users has the highest monthly average consumption of electricity (100,898.36 kWh), followed by streetlights at 3,376.02 kWh.

Table 73. Number of Connections and Average Power Consumption, 2017

5.8 Inventory of Cemeteries and Memorial Parks

There are three (3) cemeteries, four (4) memorial parks and two (2) cemeteries for nuns in San Pablo City. Six are privately owned while two cemeteries belong to the City Government, San Pablo City Cemetery and Himlayan San Pableña (Table 74). In addition, a new memorial park was constructed in Barangay Sto. Niño but there is no data yet provided. The existing burial grounds indicate that the City Government adequately provides several options as where its people bury their dead. However, for poor individuals that cannot afford to buy lots in Memorial parks, they have no choice but to bury their dead loved ones in the congested public cemeteries.

5.9 Social Service Support Infrastructure

5.9.1 Tertiary and Vocational/Technical Schools by Type and Enrolment

There are nine (9) institutions in San Pablo City offering tertiary education and eight (8) institutions offering vocational/technical education. Majority of these schools are privately owned and only two are owned by the government – Dalubhasaan ng Lungsod ng San Pablo and Laguna State Polytechnic University (LSPU). Seen in Table 75 also is the enrolment for the past three years.

5.9.2 Schools by Level, Type, Facilities and Condition

It is commonly believed that the physical condition of a learning environment has an impact on the academic performance of students. Different facilities include classrooms, clinics, libraries, play areas, courts, and toilets.

There are 65 public elementary schools; 17 secondary schools; and eight tertiary/vocational schools which provided data on the condition of facilities they have (Table 76). Majority of the schools listed below are public schools. The condition of facilities was classified as either good, poor, or critical. Well-maintained facilities are classified as good. On the other hand, facilities with minor damages and needs minor restoration are classified as poor; and severely damaged facilities are classified as critical and thus need to be rehabilitated or replaced.

5.10 Economic Support Infrastructure

5.10.1 Agricultural Support Facilities

As of 2017, there are five (5) recorded agricultural facilities that has been distributed to the different barangays. There are three milling facilities distributed to Barangays San Ignacio, Stmo. Rosario, and San Diego; a multi-purpose drying pavement in Barangay San Isidro; and a Fish Landing in Sampaloc Lake. All the agricultural post-harvest facilities are operational, however, there is no data on how much it is being utilized.

Table 77. Agricultural Facilities, 2017

6.1.2 Local Special Bodies

Local special bodies refer to the local development council, local health board, local school board, and the local peace and order board. Other special bodies may be created as needed. Local special bodies are composed of local government officials and accredited organizations which have been selected as representatives.

According to a DILG Memorandum Circular on the Accreditation of CSOs and Selection of Representatives to the Local Special Bodies, at least 40% of the fully-organized council shall be composed of women. The male and female composition of the local special bodies are shown in Table 80. It can be observed that there are more male than female members. Female membership in the special bodies have not reached its required rate of participation.

The aggregate membership of all the local special bodies for years 2016, 2017, and 2018 are 281, 396, and 236 respectively. There is currently a total of 25 special bodies recorded by the City Administration Office. Among the special bodies are the Local Economic and Investment Board; Gender and Development Focal Point System; City History, Arts, Culture and Tourism Council; Local Development Council; Manila Bay Team of SPC; City Audit and Transition Team; City Government Disciplinary Committee; Local Health Board; CDRRM Council; City Urban Development Housing Board; Local Inter-Agency Board; Integrity for Jobs; City Project Monitoring and Evaluation Committee; Local Government Performance Management System; Solid Waste Management Board; Anti-Drug Abuse Council; Local School Board; Nutrition Committee; Pre-Marriage Counseling Team; Ad-Hoc Fact Finding Committee; Project Team for Sustainable Development Goals- Family-based Actions for Children and their Environs in the Slums (SDG-FACES); MASA-MASID Steering Committee and Technical Working Group; People’s Law Enforcement Board; City Peace and Order Council; and the Executive-Legislative Agenda Committee.

6.2 Local Fiscal Management

Fiscal management is the act of planning, budgeting, and managing the City's income and expenditure. This could be done through responsible implementation of policies, practices and decisions to achieve objectives effectively and efficiently.

6.2.1 Status of Financial Health

Local government units derive their revenues from local and external sources. Local sources include tax revenues from the real property tax and the business tax, and non-tax revenues from fees and charges, receipts from government business operations and proceeds from sale of assets.

Table 82 shows the record of property tax revenue of the City for the past five (5) years. The revenue from property taxation has increased in five years, from PhP 105,838,325.31 in 2013 to PhP 179,761,769.50 in 2017, with an increase of 16.94 from 2016-2017.
